Movement for Living Seminar

Sponsored by Medtronic, Inc. in partnership with HEALTHSOUTH Scottsdale Rehabilitation Hospital. Let's get moving! Please join in!

If you or someone you care for has tight, stiff muscles related to a spinal cord injury, you know that this condition (called severe spasticity) can make movement difficult or uncontrollable. It can make doing even the smallest things exhausting or impossible. Did you know that there is a therapy available that may help provide better movement and control?

Come learn about it at a seminar where a doctor will talk about severe spasticity and explain how the therapy works. You'll also hear from a Movement for Living Ambassador who will share personal experiences with this therapy. Best of all, you'll be able to ask questions and meet others exploring their options for reaching their full potential. Don't miss this important event!

Nina Mason Pulliam Legacy Scholars Program Application

We just received five scholarship applications from the Nina Scholars Program at Arizona State University. Scholarships are available for college-age youth and adults with physical disabilities. If you know of anyone who would be interested in applying for a scholarship, please call the office and ask for Vangie.

Here are the guidelines to becoming an ASU student and a Nina Scholar

- Apply at ASU at www.asu.edu/apply
- Send for official transcripts from previous institutions. Official transcripts must be mailed to ASU directly but an unofficial copy should be submitted with the Nina Scholar application.

- Apply to the ASU general scholarship site at www.asu.edu/fa/scholarships between November and February.
- Complete the Nina Mason Pulliam Legacy Scholars Program application and return to ASU by the April 1, 2006 deadline.
- Apply for financial aid (fall/spring/summer 2006/2007) as early as possible for possible additional funding. The best method for completing the application is online at www.fafsa.ed.gov if you would like help call the ASU Nina Scholars coordinator. After filing the FAFSA a SAR (student aid report) will be mailed to you asking for further information or providing award information.
- ASU offers assistance with the following services: legal services (although they cannot represent you), Adult Re-Entry, Disability Resource Services, Intergroup Relations Center, Multi-Cultural Center, Child and Family Services, tutoring, Counseling and Consultation, and Career Exploration.
- Make an appointment with an academic advisor.

Please contact Cory Gonzales, Nina Scholars Coordinator, Center for Urban Inquiry at 480-727-6561.
