Mesa Desert Challenge Regional Games

by Lane Jeppeson

DATE & LOCATION: MASD, in partnership with the City of Mesa and Mesa Public Schools, hosted the 2006 Desert Challenge Games from Thursday, April 27th through Sunday, April 30th. Competition was open to athletes ages 6 and older with a permanent physical disability. Events including Wheelchair Basketball, Aquatics, Track, Field, Archery, Weightlifting and Boccia Ball were held at Mesa High School and Kino Junior High School Pool. The 2006 event opened new opportunities through the three free clinics including Table Tennis with local Professionals Len and Matthew Winkler, Track with Wendy Gumbert of Blaze Sports of America and Cycling with Paralympian Greg Hockensmith of Tucson. Sixty athletes and coaches registered for the Games including athletes from Texas, California, Tucson and the Valley. The Desert Challenge Games hosted 60 registrants over the three days and an additional 25 participants arrived for the adult wheelchair basketball competition. Approximately sixty family members joined the athletes and an additional thirty spectators were at the event over the weekend. We must thank the 160 volunteers that put in over 800 hours of volunteer work during the Desert Challenge Games this year. The volunteers are a key implement to making events like the Desert Challenge Games a success.

The 2006 Desert Challenge Games partnered with the Grand Canyon State Games for the first time this year. Congratulations to Athlete, Adam Schmuki, who received the Grand Canyon State Games APS Power Player Award due to his exceptional character and sportsmanship throughout the games. Adam participated in swimming and track events and qualified for the national tournament in all eleven of his events. Adam will attend the 2006 National Junior Disabled Sports Championships in Tampa, FL in July.

Twenty-four out of the forty athletes that participated in the Desert Challenge Games qualified to attend the National level event in at least one event. Six of the athletes qualified in more than five events. Junior athletes who successfully met the qualifying times in one or more events may continue to the 2006 National Junior Disabled Sports Championships this July in Tampa, FL. Adult athletes who successfully met the qualifying times in one or more events may continue to the US Paralympic Track and Field National Championships in July in Atlanta, GA.

Red and Blue Alert Now Online

ValueOptions is helping Valley residents struggling to make ends meet each day by connecting them to resources to fulfill those needs through the Red and Blue Alert Faith-Based Community Network. With the availability of its new website, matching those needs and resources has become even easier. The site allows visitors to sign up to become a Red and Blue Alert community partner, as well as to search and post unmet needs (red alerts) and available resources (blue alerts) at their convenience. Additionally, the site features a Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) page, search alerts, Red and Blue Alert news, success stories and resource listings.
